WE NOMINATE

Charles William Caldwell Jr. and Richard Whiting Colman Jr., coach and student, respectively, at Williams College in the early 1930's and coaching associates for two decades, who—days before Princeton and Rutgers enter upon their 89th year of football—are writing a new chapter into football history. This week from Nassau Hall suddenly came the statement by President Robert F. Goheen that the 55-year-old Caldwell, one of the country's great coaches, is being granted a medical leave of absence for the 1957 season to permit him to recuperate from a "lingering infection which in medical opinion could conceivably lead to complications." The same announcement brought word that Colman, who will be 43 on Armistice Day, will act as head coach until Caldwell's return.

It was in Williamstown, Mass., in September, 1933, that Colman, a graduate of Montclair (N.J.) Academy and Caldwell, already a veteran mentor at age 31, began their partnership. The former was an eager freshman back and "a mighty good one," according to Caldwell. After two years of outstanding backfield play, Colman found it increasingly difficult to follow the ball because of faulty vision. Caldwell shifted him to guard, where speed and crisp blocking earned national recognition for the Tigers' interim coach. In 1937 Colman, president of his Williams class throughout his undergraduate career and an award-winner in six different branches of athletics, joined Caldwell's staff at the freshman level.

As Caldwell's approach to football began to attract more and more attention in gridiron circles, Colman moved up the ladder with him, taking over the position of line coach and gaining added experience in basketball and lacrosse. When the time came in 1945 for Caldwell, now president of the Princeton Class of 1925, to return to Princeton to revive a revered alumni coaching tradition, Colman was a fixture in the Caldwell scheme of things. In 1946 an outgunned Princeton team, actually rated a 33-point underdog by the "spread-makers," made coast-to-coast headlines by thumping a supposedly unbeatable Pennsylvania team. In post-game press conferences, Caldwell jubilantly stated that Colman's scouting reports were a major factor in the 17-14 upset.

Caldwell, 1950's "Coach of the Year" and in 1952 recipient of the New York Touchdown Club's periodic award for "meritorious contributions to football over the years," has described Colman as an "astute football theorist" and attributes a large measure of Princeton's recent successes to his skill in developing linemen. Over the years the two have differed markedly on only one score and never in any degree of seriousness. Their divergences have been in the sphere of politics. The head coach leans towards Republican standard-bearers, while Colman, chairman of the Borough's Advisory Committee on Parking, is an avowed Democrat, a former Borough Councilman and this fall a candidate for re-election on the Democratic ticket.

For their distinguished service to football; for effectively demonstrating that coaching is as much of a team proposition as is the sport itself; for personifying a philosophy of coaching which recognizes that football, or any sport, is a vital but subordinate part of the total educational process; they are our nominees for

ONE FOR THE BOOKS

Or, A Most Unusual Day. Few college graduates become president of their alma mater—or any other major institution of higher learning—well before their 40th birthday. And certainly a good many fewer experience the kind of day Dr. Robert F. Goheen experienced on Monday, which had been scheduled as the 38-year-old Princeton alumnus' first "regular" academic day in the president's office at Princeton University.

Dr. Goheen started the day by granting a medical "leave of absence" to Charles W. Caldwell Jr., head football coach of the Tigers since 1945 who was about to launch his 13th season in Palmer Stadium on Saturday (for details, turn to page 17). The president's announcement concerning the alumnus coach, with an unofficial "lifetime tenure," startled the Princeton Community in particular and the sports world in general.

Attending his first faculty meeting as University president rather than a member of the faculty, Dr. Goheen underscored his support of the Princeton family by accusing the Rev. Hugh Halton of "irresponsible attacks upon the intellectual integrity of faculty members." The newly-installed Princeton leader reported an unprecedented action of the University's board of trustees, which had directed the University to withdraw its recognition of the Roman Catholic chaplain (see full story, page 3).

By way of concluding Monday, which also included a number of "strictly routine and unsung" matters, Dr. Goheen addressed a meeting of the Whig-Clio-Sophic Society, America's oldest collegiate debating organization and sponsor of recent controversies,

WALNUT STILL ROLLING

Princeton's dial telephone system, featuring a Walnut exchange, will go into operation December 1—as determined early in the summer—despite a four-day nationwide strike of telephone equipment installers last week. When the walkout first occurred, a delay was considered possible for the new system here, but a sudden quick strike settlement eliminated any postponement.

A spokesman for Bell Telephone Company said it might become necessary for a few Western Electric employees "to work around the clock" for several days to insure completion of the big installation job on schedule. However, everything definitely will be finished in ample time to meet the promised December 1 deadline, he emphasized.

of which the president is a former trustee. Thus ended his first "regular" academic day, which was about as "irregular" as one is likely to be in many a year.

A CURIOUS WEEK

For Trees, That Is. As everyone who lives here knows full well, and as many visitors have remarked from time to time, Princeton is a town dominated by trees—with one of America's few business districts boasting a liberal number of shade trees. All of the greenery gives Princetonians reason to pride themselves in the rustic look of their town.

This week has been a curious week for Princeton's beloved trees. To begin with, Borough officials reported that only one tree was lost to disease during the summer months, despite the record-breaking dry spell. In a second breath, they announced that it will be necessary to destroy almost 200 trees near midtown, or double a previously announced figure, for the sake of progress.

The officials admitted some trees may show the ill effects of summer's extreme heat at a later date, but they are doing everything they can to offset such a possibility. They are feeding a great many tired-looking trees, and they are preparing to plant quite a few new ones. In fact, residents who desire trees on their property and are willing to pay a nominal fee for them can obtain good ones at wholesale prices through the Borough Engineer's Office, which will approve locations for them.

As for the "fallen 200," they are being toppled between Bayard Lane and John Street to open adequate space for the construction of Avalon Place, forthcoming link between the two main arteries. These trees, cut in eight-to-10-foot lengths and excellent for firewood, will be given to any residents asking for them, while some 2,100 cubic yards of excavation also will be removed, the topsoil going to the YMCA for use in its current construction work on adjacent property. Disposal of the wood and dirt probably will lead to blacktopping of the new street before December 1.

BOILING POINT

Boiled with Father Halton. For a day or three there was a warm "feud" between the Rev. Hugh Halton and Princeton University has edged toward the boiling point. This week, it seems only required that powder be began spilling "over" somebody seemed bound to get hurt by the overflow.

Dr. Robert E. Coheen, who became University president on July 1, clarified Princeton's position in a statement to the faculty Monday afternoon. "The University has been drawn into a re-consideration of Father Halton," the president said. "The courtesies and privileges which have been extended to him, as well as to all denominational chaplains, have been terminated. He is no longer entitled to claim he has any official standing in Princeton University."

Father Halton, Roman Catholic chaplain for Princeton students and director of the Aquinas Foundation since 1952, disclosed his outer 36 hours prior to Dr. Coheen's statement. During a pair of sermons Sunday morning, the Dominican priest informed members of his congregation that he learned of the situation last week, when he was refused permission to announce forthcoming Princeton services in the University calendar.

Dr. Coheen told the University's board of trustees and tried successors since June 1952, to remedy "the strained relations he (Father Halton) has occasioned" by directing communications to the president of the Foundation. Far in those efforts the board decided this past June, with the concurrence of Dr. Coheen and his predecessor, Dr. Harold W. Dodds, to bar the Catholic leader from official connection with the University.

Quiet Start, Noisy Finish. While Father Halton arrived on the Princeton campus some five years ago his open "controversy" with the University did not come to the fore until April, 1955. At that time, he began a series of attacks on the teachings of Walter T. Stace, philosophy professor emeritus. He called the philosopher's treatises "atheistic" and elaborated on them through a series of 1955-56 Professor Stace's retirement.

Subsequently, the Catholic priest used his pulpit to criticize President Ernest G. Geiger especially the publication in the Princeton University Press of "Morals and Medicine" and the on-campus Alger Hiss speech in April, 1956. On Sunday, he reportedly read a letter in my hands (written last spring) from President Dodds (stating) that the only thing that would make him happy was my immediate removal."

In denouncing Father Halton's allegations of the past three years, Dr. Coheen explained: "Under claims of advancing the pursuit of truth, he has resorted to irresponsible attacks upon the intellectual integrity of faculty members, the students, and the manner of his charges can only be recognized as designed to ferment a highly emotional form of controversy. He has no right and is expected where friendship and respect had long existed. His accusations in the past year have broadened into large, unsubstantiated charges of subversiveness against the administration and against a number of other respected and stable institutions as well. For this reason, no university never to freedom of academic inquiry and debate need make a home. This is particularly so in this case where the offending priest has been inspired to separate from himself many of the Catholic students and faculty members who looked to him for guidance. It was to tend them that he was received by the University."

RELATIONS SEVERED: The Rev. Hugh Halton, director of the Aquinas Foundation until this week, has been informed that he may no longer use the University calendar to announce events or University rooms for meetings, and that the Foundation will not be listed in the issues of the Princeton catalogue while he is director.

"Qualified" Priest Sought. Dr. Coheen told the faculty: "The Princeton University has the appropriate authorities of the Roman Catholic Church that it no longer finds it proper to extend to Father Halton its recognition and privilege of service. At the same time, we have expressed our sincere hope that another priest qualified to fulfill the responsibilities implied in his University association will be assigned to minister to the Catholics in the University."

The Princeton president (himself the husband of a Catholic wife) also stressed that "we respect the faith and the Church of those who are Catholics. We desire for them every opportunity to be strengthened in the tenets of their religion. We hope that we will be able to find a chaplain who will minister to them with firm devotion and that patient understanding that a free society requires of all reasonable men."

Concluding his pointed statement, Dr. Coheen said, "The grounds for the University's action are sound and require no defense. The University has sought, by every reasonable means, to avoid precipitating a public controversy over this matter, according to the negotiations, a and a misunderstanding which would inevitably attend it. This is not an issue of academic freedom. The University has not set it up against the administration. The real point of issue is whether Father Halton is entitled to retain the privilege."

leges which the University had, of its own will, extended to him. "I would reassert the essential importance of intelligent debate among the members of the Board, however, to see how heated controversy on the views and status of this priest could serve any good purpose. It was my sincere hope that the members of the Princeton faculty will exercise a high degree of restraint and patience in this week's meeting and avoid a volatile controversy on issues which are not involved."

"Good Material" Provided. Pursued by newsmen looking for comment on Dr. Goben's statement following its release to the press, Father Halton remained "unavailable." It was his hope, however, that the members of the Princeton faculty, in carrying out the board of trustees' decision, had discarded reason for "bigotry or at least a confused sentimentality."

Apparently conditioned by heated issues and unbroken silence, Father Halton prepared to continue his anti-Princeton campaign from the Foundation pulpit, probably this Sunday. The Foundation student, who seemed his undergraduate audience last weekend, "provides good material for the defense of the faith in the coming months."

END OF THE LINE. High School Limits Extended. Due to a rapidly increasing school population in Princeton, the Princeton Borough Board of Education voted at its meeting Tuesday night to terminate its 12-year-old system of three "sending" districts — Lawrence, Franklin and Plainsboro Townships. The board stressed that this action is being taken reluctantly and reluctantly, but that it sees no alternative.

The grades affected in Lawrence, Franklin and Plainsboro are 12, and termination will become effective with the end of the 1958-59 school year, so that no new pupils will be admitted from Lawrence next year. After the 1958-59 year, Franklin Township, the grades affected are grades nine through 12, with September 1, 1961, as the deadline. From Plainsboro, grades seven through 12 will be affected. The deadline here is September 1, 1960. The board emphasized that notice is being given this far in advance to enable the three townships to expand their own facilities.

Superintendent E. Woodhull Davis said in his report that this year's opening rated as one of the finest the high school had ever had. In spite of the record number of students, every boy and girl was in his proper class by 8:45 the first morning. Witherspoon School registered 321 students, and Nassau Street School counted 654.

Mr. Davis reported that the traffic situation at the high school had been completely handled with the assistance of the Borough police. Mr. Davis commended the police force and the Borough Council's committee on the matter, especially the members of the "over-riders" which bothered the school last year have been removed, and that the situation is under "complete control."

YEAR-TERM REVOCATION. License Lost for a Decade. A second offense of driving while under the influence of alcohol, S. Davis, 34, 290 Witherspoon Street, lost her driver's license for ten years. She will also spend the next 90

—Torrid Tiger

Autumn arrived right on schedule this week — at 3:27 a.m. Monday, to be exact — and Princetonians greeted the new season with optimism, following the driest summer in a century. Appropriately, the first day of fall featured a sharp change in weather, with temperatures that were humid temperatures and gave the area nearly an inch of rain. Then, inch by inch, brought the total precipitation to 1.41 inches, or 21.21, within striking distance of 3.75, normal for the whole month.

By Tuesday night, temperatures dipped into the low 50s — a far cry from the 72-degree average for the last three weeks of summer — and seemed reasonable to expect comfortable football weather this Saturday, when Princeton and Rutgers continue their annual rivalry. The Princetonian, however, was not so sure. The former, named football enthusiast, however, that the fringe effects of Hurricane Fabian were still a dampener to the weather, but he crossed his fingers in an effort to induce clear skies before the weekend.

CLASSES FOR CHILDREN AND ADULTS

Faculty

BALLET—Mila Gibbons, director of the school, was trained in Paris at the Opera and at the studios of LEO STAATS and Vaslav Nijetich. She danced extensively for many years in Europe and the Far East in the Fuller Ballet. After further training at Teachers College, Columbia, she began to teach. A member of the National Academy of Ballet, New York City, Miss Gibbons is a life-resident of Princeton.

PRE BALLET—Chris Belo, also a native Princetonian, has been very successful with her classes for very young children. She was trained at the University of Texas and at the APARRI School of Dance in Princeton.

MODERN DANCE—Geulah Abrahamson, a native of Princeton is at present a student of Martha Graham's. She is a graduate of the University of Illinois, with a B. S. in Dance. She will give classes for adults and teen-agers at APARRI this year.

SQUARE and ROUND DANCING—“Lucky” Bean is known not only in the East but on the West Coast and in Colorado for his excellent calling for dances for teens and pre-teens, as well as for adults. He will give classes for 6th, 7th and 8th graders at APARRI.

World Premiere Set

One of the theatrical season's most eagerly awaited events, “The Square Root of Wonderful,” will be given its world premiere, prior to Broadway, at the Colonial Theatre on October 18, 11 and 12. Mail orders for the love story, set in the South, already have started to pour into the McCullers office, which also is accepting telephone reservations for tickets (PTE 1-5515).

Currently on view at the Colonial is “The Ten Commandments,” movie star Anne Baxter will appear in person as the star of “Wonderful,” the long-awaited new play by a local “A. McCullers, Jose Quintero will be responsible for the direction, while decor will be supplied by Jo Mielziner, who performed a similar function for “Miss Lonelyhearts.”

Paul Smith of Rocky Hill, Arthur Kowitz, Clark Casper, Constance Collier, Sexton, Mak, Colin Fry, Frances Keene and Anna Booth. Rehearsals already have begun for the thriller with a double-kick, which will be the curtain on the Players' five-part 1957-58 schedule at the Playmill.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Another new offering (PTE 55-28) is none other than Bing Crosby, crooner of so many notable songs and headliner of so many big-name, high-budget motion pictures and radio shows, in his usual role, to say the least. For “Fire” offers the longtime box-office drawing card no tunes to sing (except the brief, half-gramophone song) and no cinema stars of top marquee status to help him handle a difficult assignment. Mr. Crosby is a very pleasant Bing, but his act, as might be guessed in advance, he comes through with his usual flying colors.

In “The Big” Bing is an unheroic figure devoting himself to his 10-year-old son, of whom he has had legal custody since divorcing his mother two years before. Cecile B. DeMille directs and when the ex-wife asks him to divide the youth's custody with her, and Bing goes on a sustained spree after a brief respite, played by Anna Seymour, decisions in the mother's favor. Happily, most of the actors working in support of the star—experience TV veterans—do well in their minor roles. Also, Bing replaces alcohol with just desserts by film's end.

Jeanne Eagels (September 29, October 2) flies high and low, attaining heights of effective drama but spending most of its time bogged down by sonorous trills with the occasional chortle thrown in. Indeed, this part-fact, part-fiction biography of a vivid personality without inhibitions, who skyrocketed to the top stage play, “Rain,” and then, like a Hollywood star to overindulgence, is not light entertainment. It calls for everything in the way of emotion and, in this case, the way of Hollywood style, it often feels too much.

Kim Novak, one of the brightest young stars in the screen constellation, plays the title role and, while it always is pleasing to the eye, still fails to contrive to dominate a film as required by the scriptwriters of this picture. She proves a good deal less than equal to the task, however, and Jeff Chandler may appeal to distract members of the audience, but it is Agnes Moorehead, as a dramatic character, who controls the movie's most distinguished acting. Men and women who remember Miss Eagels, and youngsters who read in success stories, are likely to enjoy this hot-and-cold production.

EYE FOR A BARGAIN

Bon Marché. Except for the knees of dungarees, children's clothes never wear out as fast as they grow out.

Starting with this scientifically proven fact, The Outgrown Shop has long since outgrown its own premises to say nothing of its original premises. The new ears almost even a kind of guarantee that has outlived its usefulness to one wearer, but still has plenty of use left for somebody else.

You can buy anything at this shop except shoes and underwear (children's clothes are here, however). Climb the flimsy stairs to the second floor of 221 Witherspoon, the Houghton Building, and look over toddlers' snowsuits, boys' topcoats, women's suits, tuxedos for men, metallic clothes for women, and ice-skates for everybody.

Want a sample? Try this: a single-sleeved tweed coat, zip-in lining, size 18, $30. A charcoal brown suit for some lucky size 12 boy is $10. Older brother, in a size 12, could wear a $20 topcoat.

Girls can keep warm in any of several store coats like the one in the photo, $12. Garters about $7 and $10. A green, red and yellow plaid coat, cut for a princess waist, is $12. There are innumerable cotton school dress-

Pass the Ants

The question of the week is, "What did people talk about at cocktail parties before the great era?" You have, of course, eaten snakeskin, eaten rattlesnake meat, and only the most hopelessly out-of-date hostesses would serve agave worms because they've been done to death.

So what's left? Well, to begin with, plate covered ants—what's that? Well, it carries them, rather squeamishly we thought, on a shelf next to a can of baby octopus packed in a butter sauce. The ants are encased in a small ball of chocolate so that when you get a nasty start when you take that first bite. They have been fried so that you can't tell the difference.

The baby octopus three or four to a can, are about three inches across and you bite off one piece at a time. Tastes like lobsters.

As a successor to the agave worm, Gourmet has roasted caterpillars (the furry ones!), and the first time you may have whale skin. The rest of this stuff you eat with a drink—how else could you do it?—but nobody seems to know what to do with whale skin. Sharkskin, now, you could use to patch a shoe.

es, about $3.50 or so, including a Lanz of Austria size 12, $7, royal blue.

A frugal mother might select for herself the navy and red suit, $12, with round collared jacket and straight skirt—a style good for a long time. There's a boxy plaid suit, a wool suit with box jacket and round collar, that doesn't look as though anybody had outgrown it, except maybe the mind.

One shelf has a stack of diapers, two brocade caftans, bibs, kimonos, never used, and children's blouses, sweaters and skirts in all sizes.

Naturally, the stock of the shop varies widely, day by day, to day, but that's all the things mentioned may not be there when you visit. But new clothes come in all the time, so make your visit a regular one. The stock of outgrown are divided: the owner gets half, and Princeton Country Day splits the other half with Miss Fine's School.

Edible. Not everything on the food shelves of Princeton Gourmet has been picked out from under a log (see box). Some delicious, new specialties have come into the shop from the state, an oven-baked pate that's like the pate maison of a French restaurant, or the quick Hollandaise souffle that you mix with water and butter to make a superb sauce.

Spice Islands has an instant chicken broth with a true chicken flavor that will make good chicken taste even better. If you're working with a ham, try the new ham sauce (works equally well as a dip with cheddar).

If you're unsure about olives, use the Gourmet's new sunflower seed oil, excellent for a low-fat diet. It comes in a pint jar for $1.25. If the pound of fish you buy is too big, you can get a package of eight filets, large pastry shells made in Belgium for you to fill with your next luncheon dish. The can is $1.15.

Cucumber marmalade is a pleasant side dish for meat and fish, cherry blossoms are a pleasant addition to any dessert. They unfold in liquid. In these Japanese toy flowers. Powdered geranium (not salt!) is well, pleasant.

You can send a German-made coffee heater to your child at school, or keep one yourself to warm up a cup of coffee. It comes in a zippered plastic bag from which you remove the coil. Plug it in and the coil in your cup. It

FINE CONCERTS PLANNED
Stell, Ormandy, Pennington, The Philadelphia and Cleveland Orchestras with their respective conductors, Eugene Ormandy and George Szell, will be among the highlights of Princeton University Concerts this season. Patrons of Series II will hear the great German singer, Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, and the Juilliard Quartet. (For details of the dates and the artists, see the advertisement on this page.)

The concerts have been arranged by the Princeton University Concerts committee with professor Elliot Forbes as chairman. Members of the committee are: Mrs. John C. Dickey, David Blair, Professor Edward T. Cone, Mrs. McClintock Ellis, Mrs. Robert Goheen, Mrs. Harry C. Hart, Mrs. John H. Hart, Mrs. Samuel W. Lambeth, Jr., Mrs. Bradford B. Locke, Mrs. C. McKim Norton, Professor Carroll C. Price, Mrs. David Pennington, Mrs. Sherrill, Mr. Roy Dickinson, Welch and Mrs. Wilbur Young.

The committee works solely to bring to the Princeton community the best available music performed by notable artists and musical organizations, at the lowest possible cost. It operates on a budget of the University and under a subsidy from two funds, the Philena Fobes Fine Memorial Fund and the Jessie Peabody Frothingham Memorial Fund.

All concerts will be given in McCarter Theatre. Information about tickets and programs may be obtained by writing Mrs. Mackenly Bryan, 2-A North Middle Reunion Hall, Princeton University, or calling I-0453 between 2 and 4:30 p.m. on Monday through Friday. The sale of missing tickets for the Philadelphia Orchestra concert will start at the University Store at 10 a.m. Monday, with the remaining tickets available at the box office the evening of the performance.

The famous Philadelphia Philharmonic Orchestra will play almost the same time as its present conductor, Ormandy, some 58 years ago. Ormandy succeeded Szell in 1936, but has had difficulty in getting the orchestra to its present position. The brilliance of the Cleveland Symphony and its conductor, George Szell, is well known to Princeton audiences. The two soloists who star in Series I are Charles Rosen, an old friend and favorite in this community, and, and Mathilde Dobbs, a Rossini-who graduated from Princeton in 1941 and received a Ph. D. in French Literature in 1951, has recently been touring Europe. She has appeared as a concert pianist and has always been outstanding musical events noted for the easy mastery of the most difficult works in the repertoire.

Miss Dobbs won the international music competition in Geneva in 1951. When she made her debut at La Scala in Milan in 1952 she was invited to New York to sing in that house. She will give a recital of songs and operatic arias.

Although Fischer-Dieskau have made only a limited number of appearances in America, he has a large following here from his recordings. A "Parlour" with the Berlin Opera Company, will make a specialty of song cycles and his program in Princeton will include one of these.

The Juilliard String Quartet consists of Robert Mann, and Robert Koff, violins; Raphael Hillyer, viola; and Claus Adam, cello. The men have played together together for many years and have achieved an unusual reputation for their dramatic and intense performances of contemporary works as well as for their rhythmic and assurance in the classics. Their four concerts will include three quartets of Beethoven from the late period.

will boil water in two minutes, but should probably not be used for defrosting a refrigerator.

A cake comb is made out of a triangle of metal with its purpose being to help professionals to frost your frosting. Each side of the triangle has notches like a saw, each side a different size. Place the comb in the center of the cake, draw the toothed edge around the entire circumference, and you'll have a top of concentric circles.

Separates at M.M. Suits have been a specialty at Mayme Mead's for a long time, but separates skins and blouses are new. The shop at 188 Nassau handles them, however, with the deftness of experience.

The latest aristocrat of a skirt by Robert Powell Johns in grey flannel, Arrow stitching at the darts and the top of the kick pleat, the hand stitching on the side pockets, and the smoothness of the front (no belt) show its impeccable lineage. Costs about $30. A sister skirt has a small window-pane check in light grey on darker.

Grey has been used again for a pair of plus-size separates, a wide-striped cardigan, waistkit and blouse. The grey and gold stripe of the blouse appears again to line the jacket and the vest. The waistkit has a wide-striped belt and a red suit with short fitted jacket, and a matching topcoat made of the same tweed in a bigger weave. The coat has a big Pilgrim collar with a wide-striped belt and a round collar of the jacket. A few runs down the price ladder from Davidow, Mayme Mead has a plus-size pleated waistkit (skirt, jacket, topcoat) for $10, and a deep cherry-red for $49.95.

This fall's cocktail dress is a black crepe with a slanted sash in peau de soie that ends with a big pouf. The neck is round, the sleeves non-existent.

Can canots can be grey or red. A raincoat can be tweed, with white or black alpaca lining, or natural chino with a red calico lining that brightens anybody's rainy day.

Work's All Done. Here's a collection of knits already made for you, so you can buy separates (for the ladies) or take them up again in a paragraph or two. The Knitting Shop, Tulane Street, has co-ordinates in wool and silk, plus a plus-size light-weight wool skirt and a sweater trimmed with the skirt wool. The sweater is a fur blend, short sleeves usually, in cardigan or plus-size styles.

Another group has cashmere sweaters in periwinkle blue, beige, charcoal, light grey, some of them made especially with white. The sweater has elastic sleeves, mostly, but some have a three-quarter sleeve instead of the usual wrist-length one. A plus-size white alpaca sweater by Heckman has sweaters that go along in harmonizing colors.

Now, if you want to knit yourself, Spinnaire provides a Shetland blend like that knit on size 8 needles in grey, beige, charcoal (all feather tones) $1.75; pattern, for $8.00; pattern, ribbing and yoke, come in sizes 34 to 40. Teen stuff: hood, beanie or mittens for $1 in a kit... a hood scarf, two-tone, keep head and shoulders about $1.25; the crown cuddle cap bands (the head from ear to ear... a Sun Valley hood is Scandinavian style, Idaho influence... a stocking cap turns into a Christmas mask.

Gold lace, some of the fall knitting bags. Others are tapestry, flushing with gold coins here and there. Black and white makes a knitting bag look like a handbag. These bags come in many shapes, soft or rigid like cylindrical boxes.

For Christmas, work a needlepoint doorstop in poodle, kitten, or house cat. Make a big skirt to hang under your Christmas tree, or a wide red banner to hold all your Christmas cards.

$15; and John B. Redding, 39 Linden Lane, passing a red light.

In Trenton this week, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced a one-month revocation of the license of Frederick E. Johnson, Jr., 210 Harrison Street. Three speeding convictions are on his record.

MISS KRAUSE HONORED
She Retires On October 1. Miss Helen C. Krause, head of the anesthesia department at Princeton Hospital, will retire on October 1, was "honored this week at a dinner at Hopewell Manor. Administrative and department attended the dinner.

Miss Krause was presented with a gold ten-year pin and a bouquet of red and yellow flowers, symbolic of the 10 years she has been associated with the hospital. The pin was presented by John W. Kaufman, the hospital's administrator, on behalf of the board of trustees. Miss Krause also received an engraved silver cigarette case from her fellow department heads.

Miss Krause plans to retire to Orlando, Fla., with two life-long friends, also recently retired, with whom she has been living in Cranbury. She and her husband moved to Orlando in 1962 and have spent their summer vacations there. This will now be their permanent residence, although they hope to spend their summers in Princeton and Cranbury.

Before Miss Krause came to Princeton Hospital, she had, after an illness, been held for 23 years (1920 to 1943) been chief anesthetist at Temple University Hospital in Philadelphia. She graduated from the hospital both as a nurse and as a nurse anesthetist.

She will be succeeded by Miss Therese Trapp, who has been a member of the anesthesia department for seven years. She is a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital in Philadelphia, and has had an anesthesiology and spent four years in the U. S. Navy, rising to the rank of Lieutenant commander by the end of the war. She was first assigned to the Mercer Hospital in Trenton before coming to Princeton. Miss Trapp's naval service included a tour of duty at Princeton and a year as an anesthetist and nursing officer in charge of the operating room aboard the naval hospital ship, the U. S. S. Rescuer.

Volunteers NEEDED
Ground Observer Drive, The Princeton Post of the U. S. Air Force Civil Defense Service Corps has launched a membership drive to fill vacancies in the group. Herbert McAneny, newly-appointed supervisor of the post, has announced.

One hundred or more volunteer "spotters" from the Princeton area are sought. Mr. McAneny said that night-duty spotters are needed to serve on weekly, bi-weekly or tri-weekly shifts and others are needed to serve as substitutes.

Mr. McAneny emphasized that the Ground Observer Corps is an integral part of the U. S. Air Force post, scattered at intervals of from 10 to 10 miles along the border regions of the nation, play a part in continental air defense, just as do the radar stations of the (Distant Early Warning) Line in the far north.

Volunteers are sought for a normal tour of duty of two hours with spotters assigned together for the night. In case of unavoidable absence, spotters must notify their day captains, who will arrange for substitutes to replace them.

No previous knowledge of aircraft is necessary to be a spotter. Newly-enrolled members will receive one period of instruction in operating the equipment, the post which is on lower Springdale Road. Mr. McAneny said the volunteers will be given Civil Defense identity cards and after a short period of time will receive observers' "wings" and an identity card from the U. S. Air Force.

Reliable school children make just as good spotters as adults in the daytime hours, Mr. McAneny remarked. Anyone wishing to join or to receive further information, or to make an appointment, one of the two is asked to telephone one of the two numbers: Princeton 1-3495 (Civil Defense Headquarters - daytime only); Princeton

1-5489 (John W. French, GOC Recruiting Officer), or Princeton 1-1044-W (Mr. McAneny).

VARIETED FEATURES

The Business and Professional Club of Princeton will sponsor an exhibit of hobby collections and crafts Saturday, October 12, from 3 to 9 p.m. at the YMCA-YWCA building. The hobby collections included in the exhibit will be over 60 different hobbies chosen as representatives of avocations and amateur handicrafts.

Hobbies to be exhibited range over extensive collections of Wedgwood china, Bone china, Blue Cornish glass, green glass, silver, gold, glass and stone fossil and shell collecting. One of the feature exhibits will be G. W. Silvester's valuable collection of chess pieces, including a Polish set of bone made about 1950, an Alaskan set featuring Russian, Eskimo and Arctic chess figures, a beautifully carved set from Switzerland, and a Chinese set dating back to China Clipper days.

Two other feature exhibits include a collection of Bell flower glass owned by Mrs. Walter F. Fullam, The third collection announced is the well-known "Hobby Collection of Flower Show Exhibits." The hobby show will also feature a craft table from the Princeton Playgrounds, a Junior Red Cross craft table, a "Sugar Plum Tree" table, a "Mosaic Elephant" table, a Business and Professional Club craft table and a food table.

Proceeds gained from the ticket sale will be used to carry out the social service program of the club. Funds from sales at the White Elephants and Business and Professional Club will be used to furnish a new room at the YMCA-YWCA building.

D.A.R. Presents Map. A copy of General George Washington's plan for part of the Mount Vernon area, including parts of Rockingham, Washington's headquarters at Rocky Hill, by the Princeton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The copy, made in 1819, shows woodland parties, the cultivation of clover lands and the location of springs.

Rockingham is the house that the Continental Congress, meeting in Princeton in 1783, rented for General and Mrs. Washington as they and the Congress awaited the signing of the peace treaty between Great Britain and the United States. The simple farm house was the home of Mrs. John Berrien, widow of Judge Berrien, an early settler who became prominent in local affairs and served as a trustee of the springs.

The Princeton Chapter, D.A.R., was instrumental in planning the Rockingham, the General's last headquarters during the Revolution, from destruction in the late 1800's. When the old, other groups, to help to restore and return the house. Members of the advisory committee of the chapter are Mrs. Sherley W. Morgan, Mrs. Constance Bonotto, Richard T. LIBRARY DEDICATION Seminary Ceremony Set. Princeton Theological Seminary's new Speer Library, a $1,700,000 structure, regarded as the most up-to-date and religious library in the country, will be dedicated at 3:30 p.m. next Tuesday. Dr. Nathan M. Hickey, president of Harvard University, will deliver the event's main address.

Speer Library, started in 1955 on Mercer Street, and Library Place was constructed to replace Library Place, was dedicated in 1955 and presented to the Seminary by James Lenox, a noted New York philanthropist who also presented a library to the City of New York. Speer was opened to students, ministers and visiting scholars in April, but the dedicatory ceremony will be delayed to coincide with the fall meeting of the Seminary's board of trustees.

The three-level limestone building contains a collection of books which ranges from 1,000 volumes in 1823 to almost 250,000 catalogue entries, including old Bibles, a valuable collection of historical documents, Puritan Bibles of England from 1550 to 1700 and many books on church history. The entire library represents the finest collection of theological volumes to be found anywhere on the continent.

Dr. Peter K. Emmons, president of the Seminary trustees, will preside at next Tuesday's dedication with Dr. John E. Kekay, president of the Seminary, extending special greetings. One particularly delighted onlooker will be Dr. Kenneth S. Gapp, Seminary librarian for the past 20 years.

BIG STEP FORWARD

Western Electric Gets Option. Western Electric plans to establish a new research laboratory in nearby Hopewell Township. Western Electric Company this past week exercised its option to buy the property of the Princeton Film Center property. Timothy E. Shea, WE's vice-president in charge of engineering, announced the move, noting that this is the largest portion of the 197 acres needed by the company as its lab site. Not precisely the same time WE was buying the land option, attorneys for the firm were busy filing formal answers to two of three suits instituted against the company by residents of Center Road who claim property near the proposed research tract. The complainants started their legal action charging misuse of the land, after the Hopewell Township Board had passed a resolution recommending favorable action on the company's bid to come here. The Hopewell Township Committee had approved the resolution.

In preparation for development of the property, Mr. Shea reported that soil tests had been taken to determine its suitability from a construction standpoint. Final results of the test have shown it to be satisfactory for building, but, contrary to the company's claim, while the existing film center structure has been surveyed to find out what repairs are necessary before it can be used as a laboratory.

Architectural details for the new laboratory are not in final form as yet, the vice-president said. However, the buildings will be designed to harmonize with the surrounding community, will be set well back from the road and will be attractively landscaped.

Mr. Shea reiterated that the laboratory will be devoted to the development of new materials and engineering processes with new approaches to processes and methods and their development to the point where they can be introduced into the company's operations.

Seller of the "key" film center property, Mr. E. W. Eichler, the company spokesman, is the Merridale Engineering Company of Dot Molles. Earlier this month, WE purchased the residence property of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Kohler, one mile north of the film center tract.

tent on the grounds of the Princeton Community Day School. Both U. S. Congressmen from New Jersey, Alexander Smith and Clifford P. Case, are planning to attend. Also invited are state political figures who will be present include Mrs. Walter Edge, widow of a former New Jersey governor; Sam Bodine, State Republican Chairman; Dr. W. V. Alstyn, one-time acting governor; and Mrs. Eleanor S. Todd, national committeewoman from New Jersey.

Heading the Princeton contingent are Borough Acting-Mayor Tristam B. Johnston, Township Mayor Ralph D. Mason and Fred Townsend, who is the state Senator from Mercer County. Senator Case will greet all guests informally as there is no program planned.

Today is the deadline for purchasing tickets which are priced at $2.50. They may be secured at Hinkson's or buy through Mrs. Lewis W. Hicks, luncheon

Mr. (Princeton 1-2862).

Large Turn-Out for Democrats. Over 500 people attended the Democratic Club outing Saturday at the Princeton Community Grounds. It included members of the club, local and county candidates and many non-party members who came to participate in the program.

More than 200 children were among the guests, and were entertained by pony and fire engine rides and various contests. Edward J. Sweeney was chairman of the outing.

Czech to Outline Red Terror. Jaroslav Hravat, who successfully studied at communist captors three years ago in Czechoslovakia, will describe his ordeal at a meeting of the St. Paul's Parent-Teacher Association on Tuesday, October 8, at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Parents will meet with teachers in the classrooms at 7:15. A short business meeting will follow.

Speaking on the topic of Communism and the Fatima Message, Mr. Hravat will relate during eight months in solitary confinement and a subsequent two-year period spent dodging the police, while subsisting on melted snow, berries and wild game in the Czech forests. Now in the process of writing a book, he acknowledges that "we don't know everything, but we know anything, unless we know the lack of it . . . religion, life, freedom food."

Independents For Meyner

The New Jersey Poll reported this week that its latest statewide survey showed Governor Meyner leading Republican gubernatorial candidate Malcolm S. Forbes by a 5 to 3 margin in the race to win the state's independent voters.

Fifty-four percent of the independent voters polled said they would probably vote for Mr. Meyner. Thirty-two percent favored Forbes, with 14% stating they are undecided. The survey showed three out of every 10 New Jersey voters consider themselves independent.

A near-majority of the independent voters said they leaned toward the Democratic Party. Forty-nine percent said they favored that party, 37 percent said they leaned toward the Republicans, while 14 percent indicated no preference. In the last New Jersey gubernatorial race (in 1953) the Republican candidate (Malcolm S. Forbes) shown by the Poll to be leading, Mr. Meyner in the bid for the independent vote.

Mr. Hravat's talk will be accompanied by a motion picture, "The Fatima Triumph" and the Blue Army of the Czechoslovakia. The program is planned to acquaint those attending with the new outdoor shrine on St. Paul's Church grounds which is scheduled for dedication on the following Sunday.

SPORTS In Princeton

BACK TO THE STADIUM

Rutgers vs. Princeton, 2. The 1957 football season will open Saturday at 2:30 Palmer Stadium with teams of the two colleges which inaugurated the sport 88 years ago facing each other. The weather is expected to be in some 25,000 spectators to the proceedings, particularly since the invading Scarlet eleven is coming here with a 100% winning record.

There is reason to believe that both teams will score with some degree of consistency, in view of the fact that each has had a solid record but is currently solving a variety of line problems. Both of Saturday's traditional opponents can be expected well and Princeton in particular has a surprising ability than it has had in several seasons.

Sophomores are a Big Factor. Possibly for the first time in a full decade of the 13-year Caldwell regime, as many as four sophomores are scheduled to start their first varsity game. Actually, they are the future, future of the exact position where graduation hit hardest, so that it is not primarily a case of established veterans being nudged aside by newcomers.

Both starting ends will be members of last year's unbeaten freshman outfit, as will the center and the right guard. In the event of the ends, their immediate replacements will also be sophomores, because the only available letterman (senior Jim Valuska) has lost considerable time through a knee injury.

At left end, it will be Jim Stanley, 185-lb., 6-2 graduate of North Branchfield High. On the other end of the line, Ed Agnew, 190, 6-0 will start. He was a standout as a freshman. The center will be Frank Sovak, 195-lb., a sophomore. Last year's Armistice captain, who has displaced senior captain Paul Nystrom at the starting position. The sophomore has a 20-pound weight advantage over the most experienced player in the play asset in the rugged interior line play.

Baechlein Has Big Potential. The fourth varsity newcomer to break into the starting lineup is Mike Ippolito, 190-lb., 6-2 son of the football coach at Long Branch High School. A year ago as a freshman, he was switched to wingback early in the training session at Blairstown and has shown much promise in scrim-

CALDWELL SIDELINED

Illness Forces Withdrawal. In a development unprecedented in Princeton or Ivy League football, Charlie Caldwell has been forced by illness to resign from his position as the Tigers' head coach for the 1957 season.

The University has granted him a medical leave of absence to permit him to "recover fully from the lingering infection that in medical opinion could conceivably lead to complications." President Robert F. Goheen announced on Monday, Sept. 17, that he had undergone surgery last spring, and had twice been forced to miss practice sessions at Blairstown this month because of what has been termed "a lingering, low-grade infection."

Shifts within the Princeton coaching staff to replace him have recently been announced. Dick Colman, line coach on Caldwell's staff since 1945, as interim head coach. Bill Cappon, freshman coach, came up to the varsity to join Colman, Cappy Cappon, Jim Timm and Bob Pflug.

Hopes are that Caldwell will be able to return to his coaching duties before the end of the season. For the present, however, he has defined his decision as "only fair to the square" to the coaching association. Football has become such an exacting science," he declared, "that part-time coaching, if only for a period of weeks, is extremely unwise."

Prior to his enforced retirement, Caldwell had compiled a fine .694 average over 12 years, 100 games together, a three-year winning streak and brought Princeton an unprecedented six straight Big Three championships.

Professor Colman was one of Williams College's outstanding athletes in the mid-thirties, and made significant contributions to Princeton success in football and lacrosse since coming here with Caldwell as a coach.

Images so far. Ippolito is a triple threat, his passing and kicking ability adding much to Princeton's backfield versatility.

He will open with Captain Jack Sapoch, quarterback; Tom Morris, tailback; and either Agnew or Fred Tiley, fullback.

The second team, as it stands at present, is as follows:

Rutgers' starters on Saturday will be Bob Casiglia, 220, and Gene Forcione, 210. The guards will be Dave Grubb, 205, and Art Benis, 203. All are lettermen, but both Forcione and Benis are seniors.

The second team, which may go in as a unit, is likely to consist of Mike Conway and Lynn Oxenrider, both sophomores, at ends; junior defensive end, sophomore and sophomore; Bob Fisher, tackles; junior letterman Bob Rock and junior Joe DeDeo, guards; senior letterman Paul Nystrom, center; and junior tailback, it will be seniors Alan Manzler and John Heyd, both letter winners, at wingback and tailback; sophomore Robin Prince as Sapoch's replacement and either Tiley or Agnew at fullback.

Other backs who will probably see action are Ray "Splinter" Empson, 150-lb., wingback, and sophomore Dick George, tailback. Likely to be on the bench are senior Jim Motter, the team's leading passer; a year ago who has been bothered with a bad shoulder, and sophomore tailback Dan Sachs, out with an ankle sprain.

The Tigers' first line will average about 202 (five pounds more than Rutgers) and its backfield will weigh 190 per man. Both teams are well above the normal for recent Princeton teams, so that if speed develops the combination will pay dividends.

Rutgers is optimistic. While Princeton was engaging Lehigh last Saturday in a scrimmage that gave a thin edge to the Tigers, Rutgers was playing Penn in a Franklin Field practice session. In contrast to policy enforced by the more conservative Princeton, the more liberal Penn announced as 14 and 7 for the first and, and reports of the game left little doubt that the New Brunswick eleven had pushed the Quakers around. In the second afternoon, ends held a 14-0 victory until Penn finally manufactured a TD against Johnny Stegeman's third stringers.

The Quakers on an odd light on Princeton's first and third opponents of the 1957 season, in that either Rutgers is considerably better than had been anticipated or Penn is a good deal better than the first three opponents than early reports from Philadelphia had indicated. The answer, in any event, is that the Tigers must be good enough to win, however, and that would do much to dampen hopes for a good 1957 season.

Rutgers bases its optimism on the such facts as the presence of a veteran backfield; the completion of a full year of single wing football; and Steigman's complete knowledge of his squad's capabilities. A year ago the Scarlet was deeply lame, only on sophomore strength; it had always used the T; and its coach had had scant opportunity to work with his squad after taking over the reins in the winter of '56.

The Tigers' starting backfield will consist of Bill Whipple, quarterback; Bill Austin, fullback; Jay Huston, wingback; and Bill Hopwood, fullback. It was Austin, a good triple threat operator, who scored both TDs against Penn and will keep the Tigers busy this weekend. Chances are that the score will be somewhat closer than 28-6 outcome a year ago.

Things to Watch For. As the Tigers enter the season, with this hope with them, their first formal Ivy League title, these first two developments will be of interest:

Defensive ability of the four sophomore backs. Princeton strength in the middle may well drive the opposition outside, and the degree of success the ends have in stopping these threats will help determine Princeton's defensive problems.

• Sashes as a blocking back and line-backer. Contrary to most folks' idea, "Knock the ball out" does not carry the getting off their feet title.

• Both teams to pass quite frequently. If blocking by the lines is not up to par, both quarterbacks may call for much dental CAPTAIN: Jack Sapach, 200-lb. quarterback, will lead Princeton this year. He was the 1956 leading passer. He's tops in the East in his position.

NEWCOMER: Sophomore Ed Kostelnik is one of four members of his class who will be in Princeton's starting lineup Saturday. He's the new right end.

action. Four players (Morris, Hoyd, Ippolito, Manner) of the first eight backs Princeton will use can throw.

• Ippolito at wingback. His position is a triple threat.

• Fine play by Dave Grubb.

Caldwell rates him "one of the best guards in the Ivy League."

TIME TO TRAVEL

IHS vs. Leonardo. Coach Joe Jingoli, minus a powerhouse football combination at Princeton High since the early '50s, will decide his team's fate this Saturday when he takes his team to Leonardo this Saturday. In high hopes that his recent search for a consistent winner is over, and a 2 p.m. start, the Little Tigers face a single challenge. Led by a substantial line, Jingoli will set about the task of reversing the Lions' close decisions of the last two years and, simultaneously, improving on the 3-5 PHS record of 1956.

Quite naturally, the 11-year veteran of Princeton campaigns has refused to get optimistic over chances for a big year this fall. His charges have been practicing less than four weeks, his backfield still untried, and he's trying to smooth out and Leonardo reportedly has the speed to make PHS' opening afternoon a tough one. But Jingoli has that beefy, forward-looking air and the world has exhibited top spirit — and, well, the Little Tigers may just have "it!" If the first-stringers avoid injury.

Last weekend the White and Blue eleven scrummed Freehold and Woodbridge, a pair of teams boasting considerably more ability than Leonardo, the previous year's practice opponent. Jingoli said he was "satisfied" with most of the PHS endeavors, considering the amount of time devoted to drills to date, but was disappointed by his club's passing receiving difficulties. On the other hand, end and center was particularly pleased with the team's pass protection work. Billy Moore, a reserve halfback, suffered a knee injury in the Woodbridge scrap and Bill Lindley, a sophomore reserve, damaged a shoulder in the Freehold game. In the only other PHS readability itself for the Leonardo game without mishap. Co-Captain Bill Gallant, the Little Tigers' third string fullback, said he, both, was up scrimmaging with a swollen ankle, but will be okay come Saturday. Tex Wilkinson, No. 2 fullback, and Jack Lackey, sub halfback, also will be set following early-September maladies.

Tailback Key Questionmark. When PHS takes the field against the Lions, Jingoli will be pretty sure about starters for each of the offensive positions — except tailback, the most important of all, in his single-wing attack. Ed Riddick, end, and Jim Cross will get the nod and certainly both will see much action, but Jingoli won't name the starting tailback until game time because Riddick is No. 1, Cross is No. 2, and Cross is No. 3.

PUBLIC SERVICE

A squad of 44 will travel to the shore town wearing the Blue and White. Gallant, at right end, will be the lone senior offensive line, which will average about 183 from end to end. His forward wall cohorts will be Bruce Larsen, right tackle; Sorenson, center; Deyo Swartz (or maybe Bill Durling), left guard; Don Baggett (a pleasant surprise from last year's bench), left tackle; and George Wilson, left end. With Riddick or Cross, the attacking backfield will be composed of Co-Captain Vic Fasanella at fullback, Tex Wilkinson at quarterback and Alan Annerman at wing.

The Little Tigers, defensive unit, backs or what it is, will be the second best in the school's history, definitely will feature 230-pound Dick McCluskey at one tackle slot and probably letterman Jon (The Toe) Nutt and sophomore Lou Reijer at the middle of the line. Wilkinson and Fasanella will team as Princeton's line backers in the oft-used 6-2-2 defensive pattern while Tex Wilkinson, out sophomore end, will share safety duties with Wilson.

Fasanella, to the surprise of his coaches, has improved immensely and will probably be the No. 1 PHS punter at the season's outset — a fortunate quick-kick situation from the fullback's pull. Annerman will handle some of the passing chores, as will Riddick if he can cure his costly fumble habit. The Little Tigers uniforms will be new this year, but the familiar blue, Nutt again will have points after touchdowns — and most of the PHS kickoffs.

SLOWLY BUT SURELY

Hun Builds Team. With 10 days remaining before Hun school's football team plays against Tower Hill on October 4, Coach Hawley Waterman this week described his varsity's development as "slowly but surely." The team, fully at its 55-man squad, considerably larger in number and size than the Johnny Hun's of 1956, the coach said he is still convinced his charges are de-tined to better last fall's 1-5 mark.

Particulars of the team's preparation were emphasized this week as Hun, fully cognizant of the Wilmington team's traditionally strong line, mapped elaborate tactics. Quarterback Harry Bennett, veteran T operator, displayed his prowess in the passing department, with Halfbacks Bob Gossard and John Green improving steadily on "swish pass" plays.

Asked about the progress of the Red and Black line, definitely a sub-par quantity, Pat T. Waterman, Hun's assistant coaches, again singled out Cal Stanny, a newcomer at tackle, as the big boy (200 pounds) to watch. Also, among the highly touted transfer students, afforded special recognition this week were linebackers George Miller and John Ward.

Waterman said he expects veterans Clark Barron and newcomer Tony Wright and John Scop to do most of Hun's passing, based on their showing in the strength pass drills. He also predicted a good season for Pete Foote, experienced Red and Black offensive center.

TWO TOUCH LEAGUES

Y.M.C.A. will sponsor a pair of touch football leagues for Princeton boys, sponsored by the YMCA, to begin at 10 a.m. and noon this Saturday at the Dorothy Hall and John Street, Dixie Swimmeron, local director. Dixie, Swimmeron, local director, will register individual youths and representatives of six-man teams, and also will join Bob Bredenberg in a discussion of rules and techniques at 11 a.m. in the 'Y' Youth Center.

Swimmeron announced that one league will be formed for boys under 13 years of age and another for boys 13 and one-half to 16 and older. Six regulars and four substitutes will be permitted to join each entry, and a copy of playing rules will be given to each team. Playing Saturday registration, a practice game will be conducted on the 'Y' grounds.

SWEEPING VICTORY

Thorne's Tops ETB Maintaining the winning pace which brought them an easy regular-season championship in the Princeton Community Softball League's division, Princeton's talented team last week wrapped up the girls' annual playoff series. The victors swept the playoffs by blasting three-up, Educational Testing Service in two straight games, 8-1 and 12-3.

Be Baker, truly a Thorne in the side of all opposition, this summer proved to be the team's pivotal performer during the brief decisive series that concluded PCSL competition for 1957. She pitched her club to an impressive 20-3 record to an impressive 20-3, and she sparked Thorne's in the last game of the series with a sixteen-performance, three-for-three in each encounter.

In both games, the verdict remained in doubt only until fit, and they tallied four marks in the last of the first. In the second game, followed with one or more scores in every inning thereafter.

Miss Baker's hitting was magnificent. She drove the ball safely in the opener, a single by ETS Shortstop Ruth Blackman, and she came back with an effective single and a double and a triple. On only one occasion — the fourth frame of the second game — did the jokers get to her for a run, and a single. She bunched three double runs at that time.

Along with Miss Baker, whose six hits included a homer in the second game, Sarah Huneycutt and Sandra Bertrand were the top hitting plate alights. There's no formula for a home run, but the victory attack in each contest while the latter was three-for-one in the second game, during which she also excelled in the field.

Commenting on his team, Mgr. Jack Egan, finishing his third year at the helm, in the opinion of this year's club was his "best yet" — cooperative, spirited and talented. He predicted a victorious future for the girls, "if they keep up the spirit and enthusiasm of the team's sponsor and fans for their season-long support."

News Of The CHURCHES

BACK TO SCHOOL

"Train Up a Child" This is the motto when new Mary Janes and freshly shined oxfords climb the church steps to the first Sunday School session of the fall term. In Princeton, the church is keep their Sunday schools all summer, others began last week and a few will not start until next Sunday, but most begin Sunday, the first Sunday is the opening of the door.

Sunday schools are taught, traditionally, by dedicated volunteers, but the curriculum laid down by the national headquarters of their denomination. In Princeton, for example, all three Princeton-area parishes use the same series of lessons. MI. Presab A.M.E. has nine teachers who use the curriculum prepared for national use by the national headquarters of the church in Nashville. The Christian Science Sunday school also uses a course of study prepared by the national headquarters of the church.

Children at the Jewish center will have a rigorous course that will include the study of Hebrew as well as lessons in the customs of the Jewish faith. Jewish children attend Sunday school for an hour and a half, and Hebrew language classes are included.

Westerly Road, a non-denominational evangelical church, has chosen the lessons prepared by the Scripture Trees of Chicago. The group, consisting of three groups, the Unitarian church school and the Friends First Day School, have worked out their own curriculum and lesson pamphlets published by their church presses, borrowing freely from books published by other churches, and writing their own lessons.

Most churches feel that teachers, no matter how zealous, must come to the training before they are to work on young minds. At the First Presbyterian church, teachers and Sunday school executives held an Education Breakfast, and the money prepared there for their work. Dr. Daniel Theron of Princeton Seminary, and the Rev. Walter D. Wetherell, the rector, spoke.

Princeton Seminary, recognizing the need for educated educators, will hold its 10th annual summer of Christian Life and Leadership from Oct. 1 to Nov. 11. Laymen may take general courses while special training courses will be offered to teachers: "How to Run a Kindergarten," and so on.

Like the public schools, the Sunday Schools of Princeton have long had double sessions to accommodate everyone. Witherspoon has decided this year to set a minimum age of four years, for its scholars. Younger ones will be sphonded off to a church nursery service.

A few churches have figures that give some idea of Princeton's church-school population. At the Second Presbyterian Church, DR. JOHN A. MACKAY, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, will put on his robes for two special occasions this week. On Sunday, at 6:30 p.m., he will inaugurate the second season of Vespers in Miller Chapel, Princeton Seminary, and on Tuesday at 8 p.m. he will preside at the annual dinner for the Rev. David L. Crawford, new pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church.

There is an enrollment of 250, with a discussion stage regarding the future of its curriculum, having about 100 students, the Unitarians expect 150.

Home for Baptists: Preliminary drawings for a church building to house the Calvary Baptist congregation were unanimously approved this week by the congregation. Harry L. Waggoner, president of the Church Architectural Guild of America, is the architect.

According to present plans, which are subject to some revision, the building will provide a chapel for 200 persons, a presonery of nine, a Sunday school room, a parlor, and a fellowship hall. The building has been so designed that it can be expanded as church needs grow.

Construction is at least two years away, according to the Rev.

James H. Middleton, pastor, and so the building committee has not requested bids. The church lot is on the corner of Nassau and Wantage opposite the high school.

All High Holy Days services will be held in Westminister Choir College the "Playhouse."

Billy Graham will have a one-night stand in Trenton at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 1. The Trenton Council of Churches has sponsored his appearance, and churches in outlying areas, including five in Mercer County, are acting as supporters.

Groups are going to Trenton from the following Princeton churches: Second and Witherspoon, Princeton, A.M.E. First, Baptist, and Westerly Road. These churches will send some of their members to help Graham serve as usher. These churches have reserved 125 places in the Army and they will be allocated on a first-come-first served basis.

To make a reservation, call 1-1666 (Witherspoon church); 41-4000 (Second and Witherspoon); 41-4000 (Princeton A.M.E. First, Baptist, and Westerly Road).

Groups are to pay $100 for a participation fee.

Overbrook Estates

Princeton, Manor

Both in Princeton — were designed and built with an awareness of their proud and beautiful background. They offer a wonderful setting for family living in the best Princeton tradition.

Traditions such as those evoked by Nassau Hall . . .

When constructed in 1756, Nassau Hall was the largest building in the Colonies. It changed hands during the Revolution. For a time, Nassau Hall served as the meeting place of Congress.

HAVE YOU HEARD? "Without a doubt, the Renault's forte is one of those things that you can't see (its size and weight) or good riding and handling qualities which can be bought in a car. The Renault is the only real Dauphine—see it now at 12th Street and Springfield. Phone 3550 (and see ad page 4).

for $23,000

A nice little house on a nice little lot for a nice little price adds up to a nice big buy for a family who can fit into three bedrooms. The living room has a pretty fireplace, built-in bookshelves and an adequate dining ell. The kitchen is equipped with dishwasher, disposal and electric stove. Two nice modern assets of a house in this price bracket are a sunroom and a lovely sunroom-enclosed screened porch. The attached garage has built-in storage units, while the basement is divided into utility and play areas. Last but not least, the location is fine—a Township street that is peaceful and pretty but still within walking distance of schools, shops, station and University.

TWO LINE TEASERS

GOOD OUTSIDE, BETTER INSIDE
asking $35,000
This one story white house has an all-of-a-piece atmosphere, thanks to effective exterior landscaping (dogwood, evergreens, flowering shrubs, etc.) and imaginative interior decoration. Its comfort becomes apparent as you go from large living room with fireplace and roomy dining area, to efficient kitchen, big paneled family room—then back to the well-separated three bedrooms and two baths, noticing touches like compartmentalized closets and many well-planned built-ins. In short, a tastefully successful collaboration between he and she planners!
